

True Potential Aggressive Portfolio

Portfolio Objective

The objective of the True Potential Aggressive Portfolio is to provide investors with a way to achieve their investment goals. The Portfolio offers full exposure to different manager styles within the Aggressive risk profile. We review the Portfolio monthly and, if necessary, rebalance to the allocation of styles that we believe offers the best opportunity for growth within the Aggressive risk profile. The Portfolio aims to produce a higher risk-adjusted outcome at a lower average cost, compared to an equally-weighted model of Aggressive funds.

Risk Profile: Aggressive

The Aggressive Investor usually aims to maximise long-term expected returns rather than to minimise possible short-term losses. An Aggressive Investor values high returns relatively more and can tolerate both large and frequent fluctuations through time in portfolio value in exchange for a higher return over the long-term.

Investment Commentary

The True Potential Aggressive Portfolio produced a return of -1.86% for the month of December.

December proved to be a challenging month for both equities and fixed income on the back of new economic projections from the US central bank, the Federal Reserve. The Fed guided to less interest rate cuts next year and greater concerns on the path of inflation leading to investors pulling back on risk. US equities underperformed the most in the month, giving back some of their impressive year-to-date outperformance. Japanese equities performed strongly, benefiting from weakness in the Japanese Yen versus the US Dollar. Within fixed income, 10 year US Treasury yields rose above 4.6%, 1% higher than mid-September, pulling back on prices. In currency, Sterling depreciated against the US dollar but strengthened against the Euro.

The True Potential Growth Aligned Aggressive fund outperformed the other funds within the Portfolio (-0.95%). Regional diversification to the UK, Europe & Japan was beneficial.

Over December, no change was made to manager allocations with the True Potential Aggressive Portfolio with the investment team believing that allocations are optimal. The underlying managers are actively making changes with additions to US Treasuries and global sovereign bonds, as well as increasing exposure to European & Japanese equities.
